Communications & Marketing Officer

Job Description

Thrive’s vision is that gardening is actively encouraged as part of personal health and wellbeing management and Social & Therapeutic Horticulture (STH) services are available wherever people live.

We are looking for a creative, dynamic and enthusiastic member of the Communications and Marketing Team who can support us in the development and delivery of Thrive’s communication and marketing strategy and boost our awareness and engagement using both online and offline channels.

This a versatile role, encompassing skills and experience across content creation, press and media as well as social media, so you will need to be creative, have a passion for storytelling and identifying and writing engaging content across all our channels.

At Thrive, we care about employee wellbeing. We offer flexible working arrangements to accommodate a good work life balance, competitive leave entitlement and pension, as well as a professional and inspiring working environment.

If you are a confident marketeer and have experience of working in a comms and marketing environment, we can offer you a rewarding challenge. Want to get a real feel for what we do? Take a look at Cynthia’s Story.

Broad Outline of Key Responsibilities –

- Creating web pages and managing content and assets such as video, images, case-studies
- Supporting the delivery of internal and external email newsletters; creating content, managing email lists, automations and segmentations
- Supporting teams with digital advertising where appropriate, e.g. creating social media ads
- Work with Thrive’s PR & Media Officer to manage and respond to inbound PR & Media enquiries, creating and writing media releases and articles
- Translate media stories into compelling content across channels to grow audience understanding of the charity and consideration to support
- Attend external events to network and represent Thrive
- Monitoring channels and producing regular reports on performance from analytics
